ABOUT THE PRESENTERS

Parenting Coordination in Cases Involving Intimate Partner Violence

Leslie M. Drozd, PhD, has practiced in clinical and forensic psychology and marriage, child, and family therapy for the past 39 years. She has expertise and is published (and she is a frequent presenter) on issues of family violence, parent-child contact problems, substance abuse, and parenting plan evaluations.

Robin Deutsch, PhD, ABPP, has practiced as a child custody evaluator, parenting coordinator, family therapist, and consultant for over 30 years. She has been on the faculty of Harvard Medical School and William James College and is a frequent presenter on issues of intimate partner violence, parent-child contact problems, parenting coordination, and other psychological-legal issues.

David Donner, JD, has practiced since 1985 with a focus on custody litigation/consultation, parenting coordination, ADR, and representing minors. He has been a Judge Pro Tem of the San Francisco Superior Court and formerly worked as County Counsel.

Effective Use of Parenting Coordination: Considerations for Legal and Mental Health Professionals

Matt Sullivan, PhD, is immediate past president of the AFCC, PC practitioner, author, and trainer and member of all three AFCC Parenting Coordination task forces.

Annette Burns, JD, is an attorney and parenting coordinator in private practice in Phoenix, Arizona, and a former AFCC President.

Enhancing Efficacious Parenting Coordination

James McHale is Professor of Psychology and Director of the USF St. Petersburg Family Study Center. He is author of over 100 books, articles, and other manuscripts examining coparenting and child development in diverse family systems.

Debra Carter is a clinical and forensic psychologist, a leading researcher on parenting coordination, and lecturer around the globe on high conflict coparenting dynamics and interventions. She is the author of several books and articles on family law matters and recently served as the Chair of AFCC's Guideline for Parenting Coordination Task Force.

Voices or Ghosts? The Place of Children in Parenting Coordination

Lorri Yasenik, PhD, is the president of the AFCC Alberta Chapter, director of Rocky Mountain Play Therapy

Institute in AB Canada, and a co-director of International Centre for Children and Family Law in Australia. She served on the advisory committee for the development of child inclusive and child-centered mediation and PC practice guidelines for the Alberta Family Mediation Society.

Jonathan Graham, LLB BA, is a family mediator based in Sydney, Australia with 25 years of delivery of dispute resolution, training in family mediation practice, and practitioner development/case consultation. Jon has worked extensively in the community sector and from his private practice provides support to many of the mediation centers across Australia, and has presented voice of the child training with Lorri Yassenik in Australia, North America, the UK, and Asia.

Linda Fieldstone, MEd, is a former president of AFCC, was secretary of the original Task Force that developed Guidelines for Parenting Coordination and served as Co-Recorder for the recent Task Force that revised those Guidelines. She is currently Co-Chair of the ACR/FLAFCC Elder Justice Initiative.
