AFCC Recording Access Terms

These recordings are licensed for your personal, non-transferable viewing only. Downloading, copying, sharing, text/data mining, or using any portion for AI training or prompts is prohibited. By accessing these videos you agree to the Recording Access Terms below.

A. License & Permitted Use

AFCC grants the original registrant/purchaser a limited, revocable, non-exclusive, non-transferable license to stream the purchased or complimentary recording(s) solely for personal viewing and non-commercial educational use. No other rights are granted.

B. Prohibited Uses (no exceptions without AFCC's prior written consent)

1. Copy, download, record, or reproduce any audio, video, slides, chat, or materials (including via screen-capture or "save video" tools).
2. Share, resell, sublicense, lend, or otherwise provide access to any third party (including colleagues, listservs, or classrooms), or display publicly.
3. Create transcripts, captions, notes, summaries, datasets, embeddings, or derivatives of any portion of the recordings or materials.
4. Perform text and data mining (TDM), scrape, or otherwise ingest any portion of the recordings or materials into AI or machine-learning systems, including but not limited to model training, fine-tuning, evaluation, or prompt-based generation.
5. Input, upload, paste, or otherwise expose any portion of the recordings or materials (including slides and speaker handouts) to AI tools (e.g., ChatGPT, Claude, Gemini, Copilot, Whisper, transcription bots), except solely to enable accessibility tools personally used by the licensed viewer (see Section D).
6. Modify, edit, translate, or make derivative works from the recordings or materials.
7. Remove or obscure any copyright, trademark, confidentiality, watermark, or rights-management notices.
8. Circumvent digital rights management, streaming protections, or any technical measures controlling access.
9. Use the recordings or materials for commercial purposes, endorsements, or advertising.

C. Ownership & Reservation of Rights

All content is © AFCC. AFCC reserves all rights not expressly granted. No transfer of ownership occurs.

D. Accessibility Exception

You may use personal, on-device accessibility features (e.g., screen readers, closed captions generated by the AFCC player) solely for your private viewing. Cloud services that retain, index, or reuse content are not permitted. If you require a reasonable accommodation, contact permissions@afccnet.org before viewing so AFCC can provide an approved solution.

E. Confidentiality & Sensitive Content

Recordings may include case examples and sensitive professional content. You must treat all content as confidential and for professional development only and comply with your jurisdiction's ethical obligations.

G. Compliance, Monitoring & Audit
To protect presenters and AFCC IP, AFCC may employ watermarks, access tokens, logging, and other measures. You consent to such measures for rights protection and fraud prevention.

H. Remedies
You acknowledge that unauthorized use may cause irreparable harm. AFCC may pursue injunctive relief, specific performance, damages, statutory damages, and recovery of attorneys' fees, in addition to account termination and revocation of CE eligibility.

I. Takedowns & Reporting
AFCC responds to rights complaints and removal requests. Report suspected misuse or infringement to afcc@afccnet.org (include the URL, description, and your contact info).
